FARM-LABOR EXECUTIVES TO HEAD STATE

Reducing State Budget Requests by Six Million

FIRST TIME IN HISTORY OF AN AMERICAN STATE

COMMISSION OF ADMINISTRATION, FINANCE REPORTS

SUBMIT BUDGET TO GOV. CHRISTIANSON AND GOV-ELECT OLSON

POINT OUT THAT STATE REVENUES ARE FALLING TWO MILLION THIS YEAR

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 5.—(U.P.)—Reducing state budget requests by nearly six million dollars, the commission of administration and finance today recommended biennial appropriations of $44,474,986.32.

The total was an increase of $2,220,165 over the last appropriation. In submitting the budget to Governor Theodore Christianson and Governor-elect Floyd B. Olson, the commission pointed out that state revenues were falling and that the decrease this year would amount to approximately $2,000,000.

Fourteen new state buildings and major additions to present structures were recommended in the budget.

The largest cut in requests was made in that asked for the University of Minnesota. The decrease was $2,189,420, leaving a recommended appropriation of $3,400,000 compared with $3,225,000 a year appropriated by the 1929 legislature.

Large reductions were also made in requests for state school aid, general state departments, aid to agriculture and board of control institutions.

Financing of construction of new buildings and a power plant at the Moorhead teachers' college totalling $675,000 was recommended by issue of certificates of indebtedness.

Major building projects include a $133,000 building at the Fairbault school for the feeble-minded, a $25,500 addition to the power house, a $17,000 water treating plant and a $7,500 addition to the sewage disposal plant at the same institution.

An $80,000 gymnasium and a $60,000 remodeling of the power house at the Fairbault school for the deaf is recommended.

At the St. Cloud reformatory, power plant repairs costing $34,825, a $166,000 cell wing, $65,000 intermediate building and $23,500 for new plumbing is asked.

A $92,500 addition to the hospital and a $10,000 garage is asked for the Stillwater penitentiary.

A $150,000 receiving hospital for Fergus Falls was proposed.

Two Valuable Old Letters Found in Newport Safe

Newport, R. I., Jan. 5.—(U.P.)—Two apparently authentic letters written by George Washington and the French General Count De Rochambeau to the citizens of Newport were found in a city hall vault recently by W. Norman Sayer.

The Washington letter is believed to have been written following the president's first official visit to Newport on August 17, 1790. In it he said he was convinced of the affection of the people of Newport for him and their attachment to his government.

The Rochambeau letter was dated July 29, 1780. In it the French general assured the inhabitants of Newport "that his reliance on their zeal and gallantry add a great degree of security to his preparations of defense, and that if the enemy is so daring as to come and attack Newport, such of them as may want arms will be immediately supplied."

CONGRESS AGAIN IN SESSION AT NOON TODAY

AT WORK AFTER ITS SHORT HOLIDAY RECESS OF TWO WEEKS

HOUSE AND SENATE QUICKLY
DISPOSING OF LEGIS-LATION

By LYLE C. WILSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Jan. 5.—Congress reconvened at noon today after its Christmas recess, and in a little more than an hour the house had finally disposed of the administration relief program. It passed the joint resolution appropriating $45,000,000 for loans to drought-stricken farmers and the measure now goes to the senate.

The $45,000,000 appropriation was authorized just before the holiday recess but the resolution adopted by the house today was necessary to provide funds.

Meanwhile in the senate, Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, introduced a resolution to increase the appropriation by $15,000,000 and to make the entire $60,000,000 available for human as well as stock food, thus reviving the old controversy which was sharp before the holiday recess.

Mr. Hoover refused to permit human food to be specifically included in the original measure. Caraway's resolution today was prompted, he said, by news of food demonstrations in Arkansas by hungry farmers.

The senate lost no time in taking cognizance of the death of eight marines and the wounding of two others in Nicaragua on Dec. 31. Senator King, democrat, Utah, introduced a resolution calling for immediate withdrawal of marines from that country. The resolution was tabled.

Immediately afterward the senate, however, adopted a resolution by Sen. Johnson, republican, California, calling on Secretary of State Stimson to send to the senate all communications since 1924 relative to the landing and maintenance of marines in Nicaragua.

The senate began consideration of the joint resolution appropriating $45,000,000 for drought relief immediately after the measure was adopted by the house. Senator Caraway, following the intent of his resolution introduced earlier, moved to amend the measure to provide an additional $15,000,000 for loans providing human food.

Without a record vote, the senate then adopted the Caraway amendment to the drought relief appropriation increasing the sum from $45,000,000 to $60,000,000 and specifically providing that loans shall be available for the purchase of human food.

1931 Considered Decisive Year in Soviet Russia's Five Year Plan of Industrialization

ZIK OR SOVIET PARLIAMENT IS NOW IN SESSION

ABOUT 400 DELEGATES ATTENDING SESSIONS HELD AT MOSCOW

"SUPER-ACCELERATED" PRODUCTION, INCREASED RATIONS FOR MASSES CONSIDERED

Moscow, Jan. 5.—The decisive year in the Soviet five-year plan of industrialization, 1931, was considered at the meeting of the Zik, or Soviet parliament, here today.

The Zik is the central executive committee of the Soviet Union and is equivalent to parliament in other countries. About 400 delegates, men and women, attended the session in the elaborate hall in the great palace in the Kremlin.

"Super-accelerated" production and increased rations of meat and vegetables for the masses were among the problems considered by the delegates, dressed in their every day clothes and seated on improvised wooden benches beneath lofty vaulted ceilings and enclosed by marble walls. The revolutionary contrast, always predominant in Soviet official gatherings, was striking.

Soviet leaders discussed means for increasing workers' salaries six per cent and reducing production costs ten per cent.

Owing to the previous inefficiency of provisioning departments, hundreds of responsible communists will work several months in provincial meat departments supervising attempts to increase heads of cattle from 1,012,000 to 2,800,000 by the end of 1931. The same experts plan to triple the production of sheep and hogs.

The Soviet plan for 1931 foresees an intensification of collectivization reaching 50 per cent of individual farms throughout Russia and 80 per cent in the grain districts. About 6,150,000 individual farms, or 24.1 per cent, now contribute to the collective system, while the total reaches 49.3 per cent in the grain producing areas.

Projected capital in investments in the socialized sector of the program compared with ten billion rubles in for 1931 totals seventeen billion rubles, 1930. The extra funds are designed principally for completing construction work already started, thus enabling an increase of production by 45 per cent over 1930, or triple the production of the best pre-revolutionary year.

Joseph Stalin, who exercises almost dictatorial powers as general secretary of the communist party, appeared at the Zik session as a member of the government for the first time in seven years. He usually appeared at former Zik meetings for a while and mixed with the leaders on the rostrum, but was present only as a "guest."

MISSISSIPPIANS WANT TO LIFT TEACHING BAN

INQUIRY STARTED TO GET THE SCHOOLS OUT OF POLITICS

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 5.—(U.P.)—A state wide movement attracting the attention of educational leaders of the South is gaining momentum to correct the state educational institutions in order to lift the ban of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary schools.

The suspension, effective September 1, 1932, for the state owned schools will bar graduates from teaching positions not only in this state but out-state as well.

Four Schools

A committee investigating conditions in the four schools banned, including the University of Mississippi, Mississippi State College for Women, Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical College and the State Teachers at Hattiesburg, is expected to report soon.

The purpose of the investigation, according to State Senator W. T. Taylor, "is to take the schools out of politics" and to correct conditions which caused suspension from the education association.

Politics Blamed

At the Atlanta, Ga., meeting recently where the vote to suspend the schools was taken, politics was blamed by speakers.

Leaders in the movement pointed out that Governor Theo. Bilbo had dismissed or demoted deans, professors and instructors and by changing the heads of institutions had demoralized the state's educational system. In all, it was said, 45 demotions or dismissals have been made by the state's executive.

The suspension ruling will not be enforced against graduates of this year's classes.

MINIMUM LAKE LEVELS BILL IS INTRODUCED

LEGISLATION FOR NORTHERN
RESERVOIR LAKES SPONSORED BY KNUTSON

SAYS LEVELS PROPOSED WILL NOT INTERFERE WITH 9-FOOT CHANNEL

Washington, Jan. 5.—(U.P.)—Representative Harold Knutson, republican, St. Cloud, Minn., today introduced a bill to fix minimum water levels for six northern Minnesota reservoir lakes.

Knutson said the levels he proposed would in no way interfere with the proposed nine-foot channel on the upper Mississippi river.

"We have not, and are not now opposing the nine-foot channel project," Knutson said. "We have but one objective in view and that is preservation of our lakes for the benefit of our people."

Levels which would be fixed by the Knutson bill are Lake Winnibigoshish, six feet; Leach Lake, one foot; Pokegame lake, six feet; Pine River lake, 11 feet; Sandy lake, seven feet; and Gull lake, five feet.

TIME LOCKED VAULT DOORS OPEN AT LENGTH

REVEAL SCENE OF DISORDER AT LAWRENCE AVE. NATIONAL BANK OF CHICAGO

CASHIER HAD REPORTED BEING
KIDNAPED, BANK ROBBED
AND TIME LOCK SET

Chicago, Jan. 5.—(U.P.)—While 1,000 excited depositors milled about outside, shouting threats against the institution's cashier, the time locked vault doors in the Lawrence Avenue National Bank swung open last night and revealed a scene of disorder which caused its president almost to faint.

Since New Year's night when Cashier John E. Malloy reported how four men mysteriously had robbed the bank and forced him to set the time lock so the doors could not be opened for the longest possible period, rumors had spread of what would be found inside the vault.

Malloy, who faced arraignment today on a federal embezzlement warrant, was not present when the doors were opened and it was disclosed that a number of safety deposit boxes had been looted, with a loss that may run into many thousands of dollars.

A smaller vault, in which the bank kept its cash supply, also had been broken open, and between $10,000 and $20,000 taken.

The discovery, police said, substantiated the story which Malloy told Milwaukee police Thursday night—that four men, posing as bank examiners, had called him to the bank New Year's day, held him up, looted the vaults, forced him to lock the doors and then taken him for a four-hour automobile ride and set him free near the Wisconsin city.

The report of the mysterious robbery spread rapidly among depositors in this section of the city and runs were started Friday on several neighborhood banks. Money was furnished by loop institutions and no bank was closed.

One report, widely circulated, was that all arrangements had been made to merge the Lawrence Avenue bank with another and that the consolidation was stopped, definitely, by the robbery.

The crowd outside the bank last night tried to force their way into the institution. Police used their clubs in driving them away. Several persons suffered minor injuries.

Among the few allowed to peer into the vault after the doors were opened was George Pilot, president of the bank. The sight of the deposit boxes ripped open and their paper contents scattered about the floor caused him almost to faint. A few minutes later he announced in an unsteady voice merely that "the vault has been entered and robbed."

Alfred T. Leyburn, chief federal bank examiner, issued a bulletin that "a few" boxes had been opened but that it would be impossible to determine the loss until books were audited and box owners prepared lists of their valuables.

GOVERNOR-ELECT OLSON TO BE INAUGURATED ON WED-NESDAY

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR HENRY
ARENS WILL PRESIDE
OVER SENATE

St. Paul, Jan. 5.—(U.P.)—Minnesota's 1931 state government, headed by farmer-labor executives for the first time in the history of an American state, will assume office this week.

The legislature, with Lieutenant-Governor Henry Arens, farmer-laborite, presiding over the senate and Representative Oscar Swanson, Nicollet county, republican, as speaker of the house, will convene tomorrow.

Governor-elect Floyd B. Olson, Minneapolis, will be inaugurated at a joint session of the two houses on Wednesday.

Approximately 3,000 bills will be offered in the 90-day session of the legislature. On the basis of past performance slightly less than half of these measures will be enacted.

Outstanding in point of their wide-spread effect on the state's citizens are twelve projects, each supported by strong grouping of public sentiment. Several are controversial and a bitter fight is expected by the supporters and opponents of these measures.

The issues include:

1. Search for new tax sources to replace present heavy levies on land and personal property.

2. Issue of several million dollars worth of bonds to speed up state highway construction and to relieve unemployment.

3. A state-wide referendum on prohibition.

4. Redistricting of state legislative and congressional districts according to the tabulations resulting from the 1930 federal census.

5. Return to party convention system of nominating state officers and abolition of the present non-partisan election of legislators.

6. Re-organization of the state conservation department and provision of a scientific program for conservation and development of water power and mineral resources.

7. State-wide local option for boxing matches.

8. Immediate appropriations for state construction and repair of buildings and roads to relieve unemployment.

9. A state drivers' license law.

10. Compulsory unemployment insurance and establishment of a 44-hour working week.

11. Re-organization and unification of state crime apprehension agencies.

12. Investigation of the grand jury system now used in all parts of the state.

Literally scores of tax bills will be placed before the legislature. Most prominent among the proposals is that for passage of a constitutional amendment establishing a state income tax.

Legislative leaders of all factions generally concede that the measure is bound to be passed and submitted to the voters at the next state election.

A gross sales tax is bound to result in a bitter fight. The tax is supported by the Minnesota Farm Bureau representing 30,000 Minnesota farm families and opposed by the State Federation of Labor and the Statewide Association Opposed to the Sales Taxes.

Other taxes which will be proposed are a cigarette tax, a tax on billboard advertising, on motor trucks and busses, increase of present taxes on railroads, telephone and telegraph companies, iron ore tonnage and moneys and credits. A one-cent increase of the gasoline tax has been sponsored by good roads organizations. An increase in motor license fees will be asked.

Many legislators from the country districts have been pledged to vote abolition of personal property taxes. Taxes on chain stores and all forms of luxuries have also been proposed.

A ten to twenty million dollar highway bond issue is asked by State Highway Commissioner C. M. Babcock, the Minnesota Good Roads Association and numerous local drivers' clubs.

Representative John J. McDonough, St. Paul, will submit a proposal for a state-wide referendum on prohibition. Citizens will be asked to vote whether they wish repeal of the dry law, repeal of state laws or establishment of state option. The bill is favored by Representative J. Adam Bede, Duluth.

Arens, Swanson, Olson and Senator Claude MacKenzie, Gaylord, are said by McDonough to be favorable to his plan.

Redistricting of the state for reduction of the state's representatives in congress to nine will divide the legislature along party lines. Republicans are said to favor elimination of the seventh congressional district, now represented by Paul Kvale, lone farmer-labor congressman. Farmer-laborites will fight this attempt.

No great progress in redistricting of legislative areas is expected, though changes due to population growth may be necessary in the Twin Cities.

The convention system of nominating state officers would be restored by passage of a bill which will be introduced.

INQUIRY STARTED TO GET THE SCHOOLS OUT OF POLITICS

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 5.—(U.P.)—A state wide movement attracting the attention of educational leaders of the South is gaining momentum to correct the state educational institutions in order to lift the ban of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary schools.

The suspension, effective September 1, 1932, for the state owned schools will bar graduates from teaching positions not only in this state but outside as well.

Four Schools

A committee investigating conditions in the four schools banned, including the University of Mississippi, Mississippi State College for Women, Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical College and the State Teachers at Hattiesburg, is expected to report soon.

The purpose of the investigation, according to State Senator W. T. Taylor, "is to take the schools out of politics" and to correct conditions which caused suspension from the education association.

Politics Blamed

At the Atlanta, Ga., meeting recently where the vote to suspend the schools was taken, politics was blamed by speakers.

Leaders in the movement pointed out that Governor Theo. Bilbo had dismissed or demoted deans, professors and instructors and by changing the heads of institutions had demoralized the state's educational system. In all, it was said, 45 demotions or dismissals have been made by the state's executive.

The suspension ruling will not be enforced against graduates of this year's classes.

MINIMUM LAKE LEVELS BILL IS INTRODUCED

LEGISLATION FOR NORTHERN RESERVOIR LAKES SPONSORED BY KNUTSON

SAYS LEVELS PROPOSED WILL NOT INTERFERE WITH 9-FOOT CHANNEL

Washington, Jan. 5.—(U.P.)—Representative Harold Knutson, republican, St. Cloud, Minn., today introduced a bill to fix minimum water levels for six northern Minnesota reservoir lakes.

Knutson said the levels he proposed would in no way interfere with the proposed nine-foot channel on the upper Mississippi river.

"We have not, and are not now opposing the nine-foot channel project," Knutson said. "We have but one objective in view and that is preservation of our lakes for the benefit of our people."

Levels which would be fixed by the Knutson bill are Lake Winnibigoshish, six feet; Leach Lake, one foot; Pokegame lake, six feet; Pine River lake, 11 feet; Sandy lake, seven feet; and Gull lake, five feet.

TIME LOCKED VAULT DOORS OPEN AT LENGTH

REVEAL SCENE OF DISORDER AT LAWRENCE AVE. NATIONAL BANK OF CHICAGO

CASHER HAD REPORTED BEING KIDNAPED, BANK ROBBED AND TIME LOCK SET

Chicago, Jan. 5.—(U.P.)—While 1,000 excited depositors milled about outside, shouting threats against the institution's cashier, the time locked vault doors in the Lawrence Avenue National Bank swung open last night and revealed a scene of disorder which caused its president almost to faint.

Since New Year's night when Cashier John E. Malloy reported how four men mysteriously had robbed the bank and forced him to set the time lock so the doors could not be opened for the longest possible period, rumors had spread of what would be found inside the vault.

Malloy, who faced arraignment today on a federal embezzlement warrant, was not present when the doors were opened and it was disclosed that a number of safety deposit boxes had been looted, with a loss that may run into many thousands of dollars.

A smaller vault, in which the bank kept its cash supply, also had been broken open, and between $10,000 and $20,000 taken.

The discovery, police said, substantiated the story which Malloy told Milwaukee police Thursday night—that four men, posing as bank examiners, had called him to the bank New Year's day, held him up, looted the vaults, forced him to lock the doors and then taken him for a four-hour automobile ride and set him free near the Wisconsin city.

The report of the mysterious robbery spread rapidly among depositors in this section of the city and runs were started Friday on several neighborhood banks. Money was furnished by loop institutions and no bank was closed.

One report, widely circulated, was that all arrangements had been made to merge the Lawrence Avenue bank with another and that the consolidation was stopped, definitely, by the robbery.

The crowd outside the bank last night tried to force their way into the institution. Police used their clubs in driving them away. Several persons suffered minor injuries.

Among the few allowed to peer into the vault after the doors were opened was George Pilot, president of the bank. The sight of the deposit boxes ripped open and their paper contents scattered about the floor caused him almost to faint. A few minutes later he announced in an unsteady voice merely that "the vault has been entered and robbed."

Alfred T. Leyburn, chief federal bank examiner, issued a bulletin that "a few" boxes had been opened but that it would be impossible to determine the loss until books were audited and box owners prepared lists of their valuables.

Mail Fraud Case May Be Tried at St. Paul

Seventeen of 29 persons indicted for alleged mail fraud in connection with sale of stock in the defunct St. Cloud concern will be arraigned in U. S. district court at Fergus Falls tomorrow. Most of the defendants have agreed to the transfer, Drill said.

FIRST TIME IN HISTORY OF AN AMERICAN STATE

GOVERNOR-ELECT OLSON TO BE INAUGURATED ON WEDNESDAY

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR HENRY ARENS WILL PRESIDE OVER SENATE

St. Paul, Jan. 5.—(U.P.)—Minnesota's 1931 state government, headed by farmer-labor executives for the first time in the history of an American state, will assume office this week.

The legislature, with Lieutenant-Governor Henry Arens, farmer-laborite, presiding over the senate and Representative Oscar Swanson, Nicollet county, republican, as speaker of the house, will convene tomorrow.

Governor-elect Floyd B. Olson, Minneapolis, will be inaugurated at a joint session of the two houses on Wednesday.

Approximately 3,000 bills will be offered in the 90-day session of the legislature. On the basis of past performance slightly less than half of these measures will be enacted.

Outstanding in point of their wide-spread effect on the state's citizens are twelve projects, each supported by strong grouping of public sentiment. Several are controversial and a bitter fight is expected by the supporters and opponents of these measures.

The issues include:

1. Search for new tax sources to replace present heavy levies on land and personal property.

2. Issue of several million dollars worth of bonds to speed up state highway construction and to relieve unemployment.

3. A state-wide referendum on prohibition.

4. Redistricting of state legislative and congressional districts according to the tabulations resulting from the 1930 federal census.

5. Return to party convention system of nominating state officers and abolition of the present non-partisan election of legislators.

6. Re-organization and provision of a scientific program for conservation and development of water power and mineral resources.

7. State-wide local option for boxing matches.

8. Immediate appropriations for state construction and repair of buildings and roads to relieve unemployment.

9. A state drivers' license law.

10. Compulsory unemployment insurance and establishment of a 44-hour working week.

11. Re-organization and unification of state crime apprehension agencies.

12. Investigation of the grand jury system now used in all parts of the state.

Literally scores of tax bills will be placed before the legislature. Most prominent among the proposals is that for passage of a constitutional amendment establishing a state income tax.

Legislative leaders of all factions generally concede that the measure is bound to be passed and submitted to the voters at the next state election. A gross sales tax is bound to result in a bitter fight. The tax is supported by the Minnesota Farm Bureau representing 30,000 Minnesota farm families and opposed by the State Federation of Labor and the Statewide Association Opposed to the Sales Taxes.

Other taxes which will be proposed are a cigarette tax, a tax on billboard advertising, on motor trucks and busses, increase of present taxes on railroads, telephone and telegraph companies, iron ore tonnage and moneys and credits. A one-cent increase of the gasoline tax has been sponsored by good roads organizations. An increase in motor license fees will be asked.

Many legislators from the country districts have been pledged to vote abolition of personal property taxes. Taxes on chain stores and all forms of luxuries have also been proposed.

A ten to twenty million dollar highway bond issue is asked by State Highway Commissioner C. M. Babcock, the Minnesota Good Roads Association and numerous local drivers' clubs.

Representative John J. McDonough, St. Paul, will submit a proposal for a state-wide referendum on prohibition. Citizens will be asked to vote whether they wish repeal of the dry law, repeal of state laws or establishment of state option. The bill is favored by Representative J. Adam Bede, Duluth, Arens, Swenson, Olson and Senator Claude MacKenzie, Gaylord, are said by McDonough to be favorable to his plan.

Redistricting of the state for reduction of the state's representatives in congress to nine will divide the legislature along party lines. Republicans are said to favor elimination of the seventh congressional district, now represented by Paul Kvale, lone farmer-labor congressman. Farmer-laborites will fight this attempt.

No great progress in redistricting of legislative areas is expected, though changes due to population growth may be necessary in the Twin Cities.

The convention system of nominating state officers would be restored by passage of a bill which will be introduced.

FLIGHT TO PARIS CUT SHORT

Hampton Roads, Va., Jan. 5.—(U.P.)—Lack of funds with which to purchase a new sextant today held up the projected New York-to-Paris flight of Mrs. Beryl Hart and William S. MacLaren, Jr. (both above).

The fliers, who landed here Saturday night after a damaged sextant, darkness and diminishing fuel supply forced them back to the mainland when they were within an hour's flying distance from Bermuda, announced last night they had obtained the necessary navigation instrument from the naval academy at Annapolis and that they would take off this morning.

25 Years Ago

The Northern Pacific has quite a force of men at work clearing the yards of snow. It is reported that the big snow a few weeks ago cost the company about $500 to rid the yards alone. But it makes the lumberman just as glad as it makes the railroad man sad.

Auditor Downie and Supt. Strachan returned from the Twin Cities today.

Mayor Con O'Brien who was authorized at a meeting of the Commercial club to appoint a committee of five to attend a meeting of the State Municipal League at St. Paul, has named the following gentlemen, representing the Commercial club: A. J. Halsted, J. T. Frater and S. F. Alderman, and the city council: George Halladay and Peter Peterson.

The United Order of Foresters will hold their convention here January 9. Eight courts will be in attendance.

The first royalties were received today on Cuyuna range property when Mayor Con O'Brien received a nice check from Cuyler Adams. They will be paid now every quarter and the fact is interesting because it is the first of a large number of checks to be received from this source.

"Our Little Minister" play put on by the Brainerd Elks lodge last evening was well attended. All were well drilled in their parts, and received hearty support from each other.

The Martin Shear and Clipper company takes on new life and will move to Minneapolis in a short time where the office and factory will be located in the future. The company was organized several years ago after T. A. Martin secured a patent on a clipping machine which it is claimed is one of the best ever turned out on the market. Mr. Martin will go to Minneapolis and will probably have charge of the factory.

Surprise Party

A surprise party was given Saturday evening by about 30 friends, neighbors and relatives, on John Engel at his home, 1013 12th street Southeast, it being his birthday anniversary.

The evening was spent in playing 500. Mr. Engel was presented with a lovely gift by the guests. At a late hour a dainty lunch was served.

FLIGHT TO PARIS CUT SHORT

Hampton Roads, Va., Jan. 5.—(U.P.)—Lack of funds with which to purchase a new sextant today held up the projected New York-to-Paris flight of Mrs. Beryl Hart and William S. MacLaren, Jr. (both above).

The fliers, who landed here Saturday night after a damaged sextant, darkness and diminishing fuel supply forced them back to the mainland when they were within an hour's flying distance from Bermuda, announced last night they had obtained the necessary navigation instrument from the naval academy at Annapolis and that they would take off this morning.

Later, however, they learned that while the sextant was available for their use they would have to pay for it first. When hurried efforts to obtain the needed amount failed they postponed the resumption of the flight to Bermuda, first stop on the air project. Mrs. Hart, who is one of the few women holding an unlimited transport pilot's license, said she would continue efforts to get the backing.

Meanwhile, several slight defects were noted in the engine and tanks of their seaplane, the Trade Wind, a Bellanca monoplane. The difficulties, however, were quickly remedied.

The Examiners' Report

THE state examiners' report on road and bridge affairs in Crow Wing county, as published in the Brainerd Daily Dispatch Saturday, is something that every taxpayer and other citizens should study deeply.

It is terminating conditions very mildly when A. R. Johnson, chief examiner, charges laxity in the directing of the engineering department of Crow Wing county.

One of the most glaring things enumerated in the report is the appointment of a man to act as watchman for about 30 road signs donated by the state highway department, paying this "sign watchman" $611.20 for "watching" road signs that can be replaced for $2 a piece.

Another charge made is that of hiring a man as inspector of a bridge job, who "was not a bridge contractor, engineer or in any way qualified."

Charges of violations of law and improper supervision of county road and bridge work are made in the report.

The report comes before the county commissioners Tuesday and their disposition of the same will be awaited with interest by the citizens of Crow Wing county. The report is an examination of road and bridge matters covering the years of 1928, 1929 and 1930 and was made at the request of County Attorney Arthur J. Sullivan.

What Tended to Defeat Christianson

THE Minnesota Daily, official newspaper of the University of Minnesota, gives its opinion as to "one of the largest contributing factors in Theodore Christianson's downfall at the Republican primaries being his attitude toward the University of Minnesota. Not only did he preach the 'false economy' suggested by Mr. Olson (the Governor-elect addressed the University students early in December) but at times his (Christianson's) views seemed to be of a purposely antagonizing nature. As a result, the approbrium of thousands of University alumni and friends swept him to political destruction."

The new governor, Floyd B. Olson, stated that "the more education we have, the more understanding we have, the earlier will be the solution of our problems, and the earlier we will appreciate the task of making the world a better place to live. An economy that does not permit this is not economy. It is a false economy, not my idea of economy. No one believes in extravagance, but everyone believes in education, so I hope that I may have the benefit of your cooperation in forming a political standpoint."

Minnesota and Its Surfaced Highways

MINNESOTA ranks third among the states of the Union in the mileage of surfaced highways, with 34,223 miles, according to a survey by the American Research Foundation, the results of which were made public in Chicago recently.

Indiana is declared first in surfaced highway mileage with 50,995 miles and Ohio is second with 46,245 miles. In the entire United States there are 626,137 miles of surfaced roadway. Half the nation's mileage of surfaced highways lies within the boundaries of ten states, including Indiana, Ohio, Minnesota, New York, California, North Carolina, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Texas and Wisconsin. These states have a combined total of 316,865 miles of surfaced road.

Minnesota, Ohio and Indiana combined account for more than one-fifth of all the surfaced highways in the United States. Highway improvement and automobile ownership have influenced each other, and also affected the development of the petroleum industry.

Such Luck

I. H. SEFTON, associate editor of the Colfax, California, Record, wrote an essay which won the Plymouth Motor Corporation's prize of $1,000 a year for life. Colfax is a town of 1,035 population.

His topic was "Why I'd Buy a Plymouth." He is to journey to New York to receive the award of the annuity from Walter P. Chrysler, chairman of the board, Chrysler Corporation, of which Plymouth is a division. A half million essays were entered in the contest.

The Sefton essay was originally written on the backs of envelopes and was then transcribed with a typewriter. All that worries Sefton now is about wearing a tuxedo when he gets to New York. He is not deeply concerned as to how to spend the $1,000 a year as he has a wife and two kids who will undoubtedly give him pointers.

Cause of Minimum Lake Levels

THE cause of minimum lake levels has been endorsed by the Ten Thousand Lakes-Greater Minnesota Association, the Arrowhead Association, the Duluth Chapter of the Izaak Walton League and other organizations.

William R. Bagley, President of the Duluth Chapter of the Izaak Walton League, wrote Secretary Frank N. Russell of the Minnesota Lake Levels Association: "We have been actively interested in this matter for several years and wish to thank you for bringing it to our attention at this time."

As the National Chapter is governed by the action of Minnesota chapters, it is hoped to also gain the endorsement of the National body.

Support, it is said, has also been accorded by the Civic & Commerce Association of Minneapolis.

TELEPHONE communication between persons in any part of the continent and passengers riding on the Canadian National railway between Montreal and Toronto has been made possible. Long distance lines will bring messages to terminals of the line. The messages will be relayed to wires running along the tracks. An aerial attached to the club car will pick up the message which is transmitted over a telephone inside the car.

CABS must be cheap when a Minneapolis group can buy 150 of a cab company for $16,005.

FARMER-LABOR

EXECUTIVES TO HEAD THE STATE

duced by Representative C. E. Brophy, Minneapolis, republican. Wide-spread dissatisfaction of the primary is expected to obtain strong support for Brophy's bill.

Abolition of the nonpartisan legislature is backed by both democratic and farmer-labor members of the body. The fact that republicans fought the nonparty system when it was adopted in 1914 was expected to result in their support of the repeal effort.

Scores of bills will be offered on the subject of conservation. The state American Legion is the leading backer of the unified conservation department. This demand is also made by Izaak Walton League. Olson has proposed a conservation commission. More funds for forestry development and protection will be asked. Due to the variety of measures, the legislature is expected to devote a considerable portion of its time in debate of the various proposals.

The local option boxing bill is supported by the American Legion and legislators from Rochester, St. Cloud, Red Wing, Little Falls, Brainerd, Moorhead, and other cities where boxing is now prohibited.

The state employment commission is asking immediate appropriations for state construction and most legislators are pledged to satisfy this demand.

Automobile clubs and representatives of the state's three largest cities back the drivers' license law. Rural legislators from several sections are expected to oppose the bill.

Representative Frank Starkey, secretary of the Minnesota Labor Federation and minority house leader, will introduce a bill for compulsory unemployment insurance, but the exact form of the measure has not yet been determined. Senator Sherman Child, Minneapolis, will sponsor a 44-hour working week for labor which the Labor Federation also backs.

The state crime commission and Olson will recommend changes in crime agencies. Earle Brown, head of the state highway patrol, will ask for an increase in personnel to 100 men.

Other bills to be introduced include unification of state service men's agencies, continuation of R. O. T. C. training at land grant colleges, increased facilities at state institutions at Owatonna, Cambridge and Fairbault, development of the national guard camp at Little Falls, a state nursery, all asked by the American Legion; amendment of the 1925 law giving cities authority to regulate grade crossings, asked by Twin City legislators; county livestock indemnity funds to repay losses suffered to farmers whose animals are killed by dogs, taxation of state lands for local purposes, abolition of drivers' liability for injuries suffered to guests in their cars, all asked by the Minnesota Farm Bureau; laws legalizing and making operative the county old age pension plans adopted by four counties; state study of poliomyelitis, asked by the Minnesota State Sanitary conference; repeal of the Brooks-Coleman law which took rate fixing power for trolley systems from the cities; abolition of nepotism in granting state jobs, asked by the American Legion and the St. Paul legislative delegation; settlement of the Twin Cities sewage disposal problem asked by Minneapolis organizations.

ST. LOUIS STAR CLAIMS FINDING KIDNAPER

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 5.—(UP)—The St. Louis Star in a copyright story today signed by Harry T. Brudridge, said it had found Charles Y. Abernathy, negro kidnaper of 13-year-old Adolphus Busch Orthwein, heir to the Busch brewing millions, who was returned to his home Jan. 1, after being held captive 20 hours.

Abernathy made a signed confession, the Star said, denied that the kidnapping was premeditated, and said he left his home on New Year's eve with the intention of holding "some rich folks up" because "I needed money to feed my children."

Abernathy has been sought by St. Louis county authorities on a warrant charging kidnapping, but the Star did not reveal his hiding place.

SPAIN IS SEEKING NEXT ARMS MEETING

Madrid, Jan. 5.—(UP)—Spain has two cities actively bidding for the next General Disarmament Conference, San Sebastian and Barcelona.

San Sebastian is famous for its "Concha Beach" on the Bay of Biscay and is one of the country's most important summer resorts. Barcelona, on the Mediterranean, is a winter resort.

Both cities present numerous advantages. San Sebastian is much smaller, but has many hotels.

Barcelona is a city of 710,000 inhabitants and probably has more hotel rooms per capita than any city in the world, for several big hotels were built in 1929 on account of the International Exposition.

The city is also accessible from many directions. It is 15 hours from Paris and 12 hours from Madrid.

Old Capital in Miniature

Williamsburg, Va., Jan. 5.—(UP)—After three years' research for authentic data in America and Europe, the historic colonial capital of Virginia in Williamsburg, completed in 1705, has been restored in miniature scale-model form and will be restored by the Rockefeller interests. The capitol stood at the eastern end of Duke of Gloucester Street, three-quarters of a mile from Williams and Mary College.

KIDNAPED BOY AND MOTHER

Adolphus Busch Orthwein, 13-year-old grandson of Augustus A. Busch, multi-millionaire of St. Louis, is shown here with his mother, Mrs. Percy J. Orthwein. This photograph was taken when the boy was restored to his mother after being held prisoner for twenty hours by a kidnaper.

The Examiners' Report

THE state examiners' report on road and bridge affairs in Crow Wing county, as published in the Brainerd Daily Dispatch Saturday, is something that every taxpayer and other citizens should study deeply.

It is terminating conditions very mildly when A. R. Johnson, chief examiner, charges laxity in the directing of the engineering department of Crow Wing county.

One of the most glaring things enumerated in the report is the appointment of a man to act as watchman for about 30 road signs donated by the state highway department, paying this "sign watchman" $611.20 for "watching" road signs that can be replaced for $2 a piece.

Another charge made is that of hiring a man as inspector of a bridge job, who "was not a bridge contractor, engineer or in any way qualified."

Charges of violations of law and improper supervision of county road and bridge work are made in the report.

The report comes before the county commissioners Tuesday and their disposition of the same will be awaited with interest by the citizens of Crow Wing county. The report is an examination of road and bridge matters covering the years of 1928, 1929 and 1930 and was made at the request of County Attorney Arthur J. Sullivan.

What Tended to Defeat Christianson

THE Minnesota Daily, official newspaper of the University of Minnesota, gives its opinion as to "one of the largest contributing factors in Theodore Christianson's downfall at the Republican primaries being his attitude toward the University of Minnesota. Not only did he preach the 'false economy' suggested by Mr. Olson (the Governor-elect addressed the University students early in December) but at times his (Christianson's) views seemed to be of a purposely antagonizing nature. As a result, the approbrium of thousands of University alumni and friends swept him to political destruction."

The new governor, Floyd B. Olson, stated that "the more education we have, the more understanding we have, the earlier will be the solution of our problems, and the earlier we will appreciate the task of making the world a better place to live. An economy that does not permit this is not economy. It is a false economy, not my idea of economy. No one believes in extravagance, but everyone believes in education, so I hope that I may have the benefit of your cooperation in forming a political standpoint."

Minnesota and Its Surfaced Highways

MINNESOTA ranks third among the states of the Union in the mileage of surfaced highways, with 34,223 miles, according to a survey by the American Research Foundation, the results of which were made public in Chicago recently.

Indiana is declared first in surfaced highway mileage with 50,995 miles and Ohio is second with 46,245 miles. In the entire United States there are 626,137 miles of surfaced roadway. Half the nation's mileage of surfaced highways lies within the boundaries of ten states, including Indiana, Ohio, Minnesota, New York, California, North Carolina, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Texas and Wisconsin. These states have a combined total of 316,865 miles of surfaced road.

Minnesota, Ohio and Indiana combined account for more than one-fifth of all the surfaced highways in the United States. Highway improvement and automobile ownership have influenced each other, and also affected the development of the petroleum industry.

Such Luck

I. H. SEFTON, associate editor of the Colfax, California, Record, wrote an essay which won the Plymouth Motor Corporation's prize of $1,000 a year for life. Colfax is a town of 1,035 population.

His topic was "Why I'd Buy a Plymouth." He is to journey to New York to receive the award of the annuity from Walter P. Chrysler, chairman of the board, Chrysler Corporation, of which Plymouth is a division. A half million essays were entered in the contest.

The Sefton essay was originally written on the backs of envelopes and was then transcribed with a typewriter. All that worries Sefton now is about wearing a tuxedo when he gets to New York. He is not deeply concerned as to how to spend the $1,000 a year as he has a wife and two kids who will undoubtedly give him pointers.

Cause of Minimum Lake Levels

THE cause of minimum lake levels has been endorsed by the Ten Thousand Lakes-Greater Minnesota Association, the Arrowhead Association, the Duluth Chapter of the Izaak Walton League and other organizations.

William R. Bagley, President of the Duluth Chapter of the Izaak Walton League, wrote Secretary Frank N. Russell of the Minnesota Lake Levels Association: "We have been actively interested in this matter for several years and wish to thank you for bringing it to our attention at this time."

As the National Chapter is governed by the action of Minnesota chapters, it is hoped to also gain the endorsement of the National body.

Support, it is said, has also been accorded by the Civic & Commerce Association of Minneapolis.

TELEPHONE communication between persons in any part of the continent and passengers riding on the Canadian National railway between Montreal and Toronto has been made possible. Long distance lines will bring messages to terminals of the line. The messages will be relayed to wires running along the tracks. An aerial attached to the club car will pick up the message which is transmitted over a telephone inside the car.

CABS must be cheap when a Minneapolis group can buy 150 of a cab company for $16,005.

FARMER-LABOR EXECUTIVES TO HEAD THE STATE

duced by Representative C. E. Brophy, Minneapolis, republican. Wide-spread dissatisfaction of the primary is expected to obtain strong support for Brophy's bill.

Abolition of the nonpartisan legislature is backed by both democratic and farmer-labor members of the body. The fact that republicans fought the nonparty system when it was adopted in 1914 was expected to result in their support of the repeal effort.

Scores of bills will be offered on the subject of conservation. The state American Legion is the leading backer of the unified conservation department. This demand is also made by Izaak Walton Leagues. Olson has proposed a conservation commission. More funds for forestry development and protection will be asked. Due to the variety of measures, the legislature is expected to devote a considerable portion of its time in debate of the various proposals.

The local option boxing bill is supported by the American Legion and legislators from Rochester, St. Cloud, Red Wing, Little Falls, Brainerd, Moorhead, and other cities where boxing is now prohibited.

The state employment commission is asking immediate appropriations for state construction and most legislators are pledged to satisfy this demand.

Automobile clubs and representatives of the state's three largest cities back the drivers' license law. Rural legislators from several sections are expected to oppose the bill.

Representative Frank Starkey, secretary of the Minnesota Labor Federation and minority house leader, will introduce a bill for compulsory unemployment insurance, but the exact form of the measure has not yet been determined. Senator Sherman Child, Minneapolis, will sponsor a 44-hour working week for labor which the Labor Federation also backs.

The state crime commission and Olson will recommend changes in crime agencies. Earle Brown, head of the state highway patrol, will ask for an increase in personnel to 100 men.

Other bills to be introduced include unification of state service men's agencies, continuation of R. O. T. C. training at land grant colleges, increased facilities at state institutions at Owatonna, Cambridge and Faribault, development of the national guard camp at Little Falls, a state nursery, all asked by the American Legion; amendment of the 1925 law giving cities authority to regulate grade crossings, asked by Twin City legislators; county livestock indemnity funds to repay losses suffered by farmers whose animals are killed by dogs, taxation of state lands for local purposes, abolition of drivers' liability for injuries suffered to guests in their cars, all asked by the Minnesota Farm Bureau; laws legalizing and making operative the county old age pension plans adopted by four counties; state study of poliomyelitis, asked by the Minnesota State Sanitary conference; repeal of the Brooks-Coleman law which took rate fixing power for trolley systems from the cities; abolition of nepotism in granting state jobs, asked by the American Legion and the St. Paul legislative delegation; settlement of the Twin Cities sewage disposal problem asked by Minneapolis organizations.

ST. LOUIS STAR CLAIMS FINDING KIDNAPER

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 5.—(U.P.)—The St. Louis Star in a copyright story today signed by Harry T. Brundage said it had found Charles Y. Abernathy, negro kidnaper of 13-year-old Adolphus Busch Orthwein, heir to the Busch brewing millions, who was returned to his home Jan. 1, after being held captive 20 hours.

Abernathy made a signed confession, the Star said, denied that the kidnapping was premeditated, and said he left his home on New Year's eve with the intention of holding "some rich folks up" because "I needed money to feed my children."

Abernathy has been sought by St. Louis county authorities on a warrant charging kidnapping, but the Star did not reveal his hiding place.

SPAIN IS SEEKING NEXT ARMS MEETING

Madrid, Jan. 5.—(U.P.)—Spain has two cities actively bidding for the next General Disarmament Conference, San Sebastian and Barcelona.

San Sebastian is famous for its "Concha Beach" on the Bay of Biscay and is one of the country's most important summer resorts. Barcelona, on the Mediterranean, is a winter resort.

Both cities present numerous advantages. San Sebastian is much smaller, but has many hotels.

Barcelona is a city of 710,000 inhabitants and probably has more hotel rooms per capita than any city in the world. For several big hotels were built in 1929 on account of the International Exposition.

The city is also accessible from many directions. It is 15 hours from Paris and 12 hours from Madrid.

Old Capital in Miniature

Williamsburg, Va., Jan. 5.—(U.P.)—After three years' research for authentic data in America and Europe, the historic colonial capital of Virginia in Williamsburg, completed in 1705, has been restored in miniature scale-model form and will be restored by the Rockefeller interests. The capitol stood at the eastern end of Duke of Gloucester Street, three-quarters of a mile from Williams and Mary College.

KIDNAPED BOY AND MOTHER

Adolphus Busch Orthwein, 13-year-old grandson of Augustus A. Busch, multi-millionaire of St. Louis, is shown here with his mother, Mrs. Percy J. Orthwein. This photograph was taken when the boy was restored to his mother after being held prisoner for twenty hours by a kidnaper.

BRAINERD TRIPS DULUTH 18-17 FOR FOURTH STRAIGHT

FREE THROW MISS AFTER FINAL GUN CLINCHES BATTLE

TEAMS FIGHT ON EVEN TERMS THROUGHOUT TENSE CLASH

BRAINERD MATES DIVIDE SCORING HONORS; STEPHENSON, DULUTH'S SCORING ACE

Tense, nerve wracking tournament days when teams fought for a one-point advantage to clinch a win returned vividly to the front in the hard-fought Brainerd High-Duluth Central cage clash Saturday night, which B. H. S. won, 18 to 17.

A free throw that would have evened the score and sent the teams into overtime play with unknown results failed to materialize for the Zenith City boys.

The foul, an ordinary infringement of the rules, came just as the gun cracked for the close, as the six feet three inch center, Fremuth, jumped into the air to try for a basket in Duluth's dying efforts to win. Marshall was called for blocking. At that instant the gun cracked and Brainerd fans cheered, stood up and prepared to leave. The referee's whistle was not heard in the acclaim of the Brainerd boys. Referee Michie raised his hand, tapped Marshall on the back and gave Fremuth the ball. The fans remained standing. The Duluth team took time out to recover. Thirty seconds later Fremuth poised for the free throw. The ball left his hands. It went wide of its mark. There was a long sigh of relief from the fans and then a cheer. The Duluth players and their coach, Swayne, slumped dejectedly. The game was over and for them it represented a road trip failure to Fargo and Brainerd.

From the start it was evident that the result would be close. The lead continually changed hands. Brainerd was on the short end of a 17 to 16 count with a minute and a half to go. Then Patterson slipped in the winning basket from under the cage on a play that worked through the Duluth defense zone. The basket was the signal for the locals to hold the ball but on a tip-off the Duluth boys recovered and sent a five-man attack up the floor in a final drive to score. The drive came so close to scoring that Brainerd can be credited with winning by "the skin of their teeth."

The under-estimation of Brainerd's strength by Duluth can be attributed to the latter's defeat. When the reserve strength entered the game and Brainerd found it could better than hold its own, a new confidence sprang up in the bodies of Coach Dammann's boys. There was fight and spirit galore. Even when Coach Swayne shot in his heavy artillery that confidence did not diminish.

Duluth presented a quint of long shot artists and it was phenomenal the way baskets were made by them beyond the defense zone. Marshall sunk the only long shot for the Brainerd team. The locals thus provided a more spectacular display of basketball by working through for close-in shots. McPherson's back hand shot under the east basket near the close of the first half was one of the highlights in scoring.

Blackmore's basket in the first quarter, the only one for Duluth in that canto, was sensational. It was a quick throw from near the sidelines, zooming into the Brainerd hoop without as much as touching the rim. Fans are still wondering how it found its mark.

Brainerd led at the quarter, 5 to 2, relinquished their lead to Duluth at the half by 10 to 9 and regained it again at the third quarter, 13 to 11.

The fourth quarter saw both teams ready to rough it. The play became terrific and both quintets became unbalanced. Both coaches sent in substitutes to steady the men without apparent success. Fouls were unconsciously committed and in the heat of the play went unnoticed. Duluth scored illegally after one of the players carried the ball out of bounds, out of sight of the referee, and passed out to a man under the time. But this was offset a few seconds later when a Brainerd man repeated the same without being called.

The closeness and excitement of the battle prevented good basketball. Had either team steadied during that glamorous fourth quarter, the margin of victory would have been wider.

The game was the fourth straight win for Brainerd high school and gave the fans a new exhilaration in their team.

Scoring was well divided for Brainerd with Foster leading with three field goals and one free throw. Patterson, Marshall, Franks, White and McPherson each score one field goal while Marshall gained an extra point on a free throw.

Stephenson was easily the outstanding Duluth player. He sunk five field goals and one free throw. His wizardry at the hoop is to be complimented.

Soon after the game opened Piering fouled Marshall who missed one free throw chance and scored one. Blackmore fouled Foster who missed. Marshall sunk one from near center for Brainerd's first field goal. Gleason went in at center for Jones. Franks scored on a pass from Marshall resulting sensationally from near the sidelines near the close of the quarter. Even as Duluth guard, Blackmore scored sensationally from near the sidelines near the close of the quarter. The quarter found Brainerd 5 to 2 in the lead.

Foster missed two free throws at the start of the second quarter after Toivenen body blocked. Stephenson dribbled through nicely and scored. He shot another one, a long one, and made it. Gleason hung up another field goal for Duluth and at this point Brainerd took time out to collect themselves. Coach Dammann sent in White for Franks and McPherson for Schuety. At the resuming of play, Foster scored on a pass from Patterson. Swayne substituted Even for Toivenen and Jones for Blackmore. McPherson's back-handed shot under the net found its place in the hemp on a pass from Foster and Stephenson's close-in marker ended the scoring at the half, Duluth leading 10 to 9. Brainerd started the second half with revived strength. A barrage at the Duluth hoop gave the Warriors two field goals, White and Foster each sinking one. White blocked Stephenson and the latter missed one free throw and scored the other. Brainerd peppered the Duluth net, four tries failing. The third quarter ended 13 to 11 in Brainerd's favor.

Substitutions of Blackmore for Gleason and Wygle for Foster were made at the start of the final stanza. Stephenson dropped in a long shot from outside the defense zone. The game became rough. Foster was sent in again, replacing Wygle. Brainerd took time out and immediately afterwards Foster shot in a basket on a pass from Patterson. Stephenson fouled Foster who scored a free throw. Fremuth was sent in at center for Jones to gain the jump and overcome the 16 to 13 lead Brainerd held. The 16 to 13 lead Brainerd held. The big Duluth center, although four inches taller than Patterson, could not gain the jump. Stephenson scored for Duluth and Duluth took time out. Fremuth was called for roughness but White missed the free throw chance. Stephenson scored for Duluth, putting them in the lead. The scoring ace was called for his critical attitude to the referee. Marshall missed the free throw chance. With a minute and a half to play, Duluth took time out. On the reopening of play Patterson found the hoop from under the basket and gave Brainerd the lead, 18 to 17. There were no other scores in the game, Fremuth missing the free throw chance at the close.

MAY LEAD IN BASKETBALL AS IN FOOTBALL

WILDCATS HOPE TO DUPLICATE THE DUAL FEAT OF PURDUE LAST SEASON

CONFERENCE RACE OPENS TONIGHT, WISCONSIN PLAYING ILLINOIS

By DIXON STEWART (United Press Staff Correspondent) Chicago, Jan. 5.—Northwestern University, leader in the 1930 football race, again occupies the favorite role as the opening of the basketball campaign brings a return of Big Ten conference athletic warfare.

Northwestern closed its conference football campaign with a clean slate to share championship honors with Michigan and now hopes to duplicate the feat of Purdue which last season won both the football and basketball titles.

The conference race opens tonight with Wisconsin's visit to Illinois. Purdue, defending champion, and Michigan will get their first taste of competition tomorrow and on Saturday all of the Big Ten conference quintets will swing into action.

Although forecasting basketball championships is a hazardous pastime and the Big Ten race is traditionally uncertain, there has been a general rush to install Northwestern in the favorite's seat. While rival schools are depending largely upon green material, Northwestern has a team composed of four veterans and the sophomore star, Joe Kelf. A schedule advantage which does not require them to meet Purdue, Indiana or Wisconsin, gives the Evanston school an added pull over the field.

Purdue has lost three of the veterans which enabled it to go undefeated in the 1930 conference race, but Coach Frank Lambert has developed a powerful club and will be a factor in the race. The Boilermakers lost one practice game to Pittsburgh while Northwestern was one of the quintet of Big Ten teams which were undefeated in five pre-conference engagements.

Wisconsin and Illinois, tonight's lid-tilters, are unknown quantities. Wisconsin's material is reputed below par, but Dr. Walter Meanwell's coaching wizardry assures the Badgers of respect throughout the race. Illinois is regarded as the most likely dark horse of the campaign. The Illini have shown strength both at defense and offense and may be title contenders if Coach Ruby can keep them keyed for victory.

Indiana, situated in the stronghold of high school basketball, always has good material and the Hoosiers are certain to be an important contender for championship honors.

Michigan has titular aspirations but bases its hopes largely on sophomore material and cannot be rated until the new men received a test against Big Ten competition. Ohio State's team, built around Wes Fester, should be an improvement over last year's quintet but has little prospects of regaining the heights once occupied by Buckeye cage teams.

Minnesota and Chicago boast their best material of the past decade and have high hopes of gaining prominence, but like Iowa's hapless quintet, appear destined for second division berths.

Professor Sees Hole In Einstein Religion

Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke, of Princeton University, in the January number of the official organ of the Presbyterian Church, says that Professor Albert Einstein's "cosmic religious sense" seems to have a "big hole right in the centre of it." Commenting on Einstein's statement that "the only deeply religious people of our age are the earnest men of research," Dr. Van Dyke says, "this is certainly an overstatement."

First View of Airplane

Hollis, N. H., Jan. 5.—(UP)—This town had to wait until the waning days of 1930 to get its first close-up glimpse of a flying machine. Many residents inspected an airplane for the first time recently when Joseph Fluet, aviator, made a forced landing in Arthur Strong's cow pasture. It was the first time in town history that an airplane had landed here.

San Francisco, Jan. 5.—(UP)—When the Western Metals Congress meets here February 16-20, San Franciscans may learn how much a feather really weighs. A feature of the conclave will be the exhibiting of a pair of scales that will weigh to one-twenty-eighth of one-ten-thousandth of an ounce.

The second period opened with Creger scoring and shortly after Lukens dented the twine. The period continued at this point with neither team having the advantage.

Franks, Brainerd goalie, was a power on protecting the hemp.

CONNOLLY FIGHTING EXTRADITION TO IOWA

Minneapolis, Jan. 5.—(UP)—Habeas corpus proceedings to prevent the return of James A. Connolly, St. Paul bond broker, to Ottumwa, Ia., where he is wanted on bank robbery charges, were conducted in Hennepin county district court today.

J. R. Layman, Ottumwa business man, testified he saw Connolly in Ottumwa on September 9, day of the bank raid.

On cross examination, Layman admitted he had seen Connolly's picture in an Ottumwa paper. He had a difficult time describing the St. Paul man.

CROSBY-IRONTON DEFEATS DENFELD

RANGE CAGE TEAM MAINTAINS LEAD THROUGHOUT GAME WITH DULUTH

A second Duluth high school team, Denfeld, met defeat at the hands of a Crosby-Wing county cage quintet on Saturday evening when Crosby-Ironton romped off their own floor on the long end of a 15 to 13 count.

Crosby-Ironton held a lead throughout the four quarters. Petrabor, C-I forward, led in scoring with three field goals and one free throw to his credit. Perpich, center, was next with six points.

The range quintet had on the floor four lettermen from last year, Keele, Petrabor, forwards; Perpich, center, and R. Olson, guard. Bobervich, guard, was the only new man in a variety uniform.

OIL WELL ON FIRE IN OKLAHOMA CITY ENDANGERS CITY

Oklahoma City, Jan. 5.—(UP)—The Plains Petroleum company's No. 1 Sadler well, a few feet from Oklahoma City warehouse buildings, caught fire this afternoon.

Great billows of black smoke rolled over the city and flames reached high over the derrick from the gusher which came in several months ago with an estimated production of 25,000 barrels daily.

That Italian Influence

By HARDIN BURNLEY

PRIMO CARNERA.

TONY CANZONERI.

YOUNG CORBETT.

FIDEL LA BARBA.

HEIRS of the heroic legions with which Rome ruled the civilized world many centuries ago are doing much to dominate the athletic scene right here in America with that competitive fire for which Italian blood has always been famed.

In boxing, the gigantic Primo Carnera—despite scandals involving some of his American assistants and severe official opposition in certain quarters—unquestionably is the biggest crowd puller of 'em all. The boys have been giving the Ambling Alp a terrible ride; California and New York have outlawed him from their rings, though Primo personally was exonerated in the single scandal for which the powers "put the finger" on him. Most Italians feel that Carnera is getting a very raw deal from hostile ring politicians and some native Americans are inclined to agree with that conclusion.

However, the ring has several other "wonderful wops" including Champion Bat Battalino of the featherweights; Fidel LaBarba, Tony Canzoneri, Billy Petrolle, Frankie Genaro, Young Corbett III, Mid-get Wolgast, Eddie Shea, Joe Scal-faro, etc. And it's about the same in other sports—Georgetti among the 6-day bikers; Gene Sarazen and the Turnesa brothers at golf; Lazzeri, Melillo, Mancuso and Orsatti, in baseball; Colitetti on horses; Silvio and Mantha at hockey; Baron De Morigo in tennis being standouts.

But it was in football during 1930 that the old Roman stock came to the fore with a most formidable rush. What about this All-Italian-America backfield with Carideo (Notre Dame) at quarter; Macaluso (Colgate) at full; Sav-oldi (Notre Dame) and Viviano (Cornell) at the halves and with Angel Brovelli (St. Mary's) as sub? In the line, you could put Tony Siano (Fordham) for center; Jack Orsi (captain-elect, Colgate) at end; etc.

Yep, there used to be an old song about "Brother Sylvest" (was he "forty feets across de chest") who performed fabled physical marvels. Well, the might of that music myth pales when you think of the range of "Italiano" athletic talent today!

BRAINERD TRIPS DULUTH 18-17 FOR FOURTH STRAIGHT

FREE THROW MISS AFTER FINAL GUN CLINCHES BATTLE

TEAMS FIGHT ON EVEN TERMS THROUGHOUT TENSE CLASH

BRAINERD MATES DIVIDE SCORING HONORS; STEPHENSON, DULUTH'S SCORING ACE

Tense, nerve wracking tournament days when teams fought for a one-point advantage to clinch a win returned vividly to the front in the hard-fought Brainerd-High-Duluth Central cage clash Saturday night, which B. H. S. won, 18 to 17.

A free throw that would have evened the score and sent the teams into overtime play with unknown results failed to materialize for the Zenith City boys.

The foul, an ordinary infringement of the rules, came just as the gun cracked for the close as the six feet three inch center, Fremuth, jumped into the air to try for a basket in Duluth's dying efforts to win. Marshall was called for blocking. At that instant the gun cracked and Brainerd fans cheered, stood up and prepared to leave. The referee's whistle was not heard in the acclaim of the Brainerd boys. Referee Michie raised his hand, tapped Marshall on the back and gave Fremuth the ball. The fans remained standing. The Duluth team took time out to recover. Thirty seconds later Fremuth poised for the free throw. The ball left his hands. It went wide of its mark. There was a long sigh of relief from the fans and then a cheer. The Duluth players and their coach, Swayne, slumped dejectedly. The game was over and for them it represented a road trip failure to Fargo and Brainerd.

From the start it was evident that the result would be close. The lead continually changed hands. Brainerd won on the short end of a 17 to 16 count with a minute and a half to go. Then Patterson slipped in the winning basket from under the cage on a play that worked through the Duluth defense zone. The basket was the signal for the locals to hold the ball but on a tip-off the Duluth boys recovered and sent a five-man attack up the floor in a final drive to score. The drive came so close to scoring that Brainerd can be credited with winning by "the skin of their teeth."

The under-estimation of Brainerd's strength by Duluth can be attributed to the latter's defeat. When the reserve strength entered the game and Brainerd found it could better than hold its own, a new confidence sprang up in the bodies of Coach Dammann's boys. There was fight and spirit galore. Even when Coach Swayne shot in his heavy artillery that confidence did not diminish.

Duluth presented a quint of long shot artists and it was phenomenal the way baskets were made by them beyond the defense zone. Marshall sunk the only long shot for the Brainerd team. The locals thus provided a more spectacular display of basketball by working through for close-in shots. McPherson's back hand shot under the east basket near the close of the first half was one of the highlights in scoring.

Blackmore's basket in the first quarter, the only one for Duluth in that canto, was sensational. It was a quick throw from near the sidelines, zooming into the Brainerd loop without as much as touching the rim. Fans are still wondering how it found its mark.

Brainerd led at the quarter, 5 to 2, relinquished their lead to Duluth at the half by 10 to 9 and regained it again at the third quarter, 13 to 11.

The fourth quarter saw both teams ready to rough it. The play became terrific and both quintets became unbalanced. Both coaches sent in substitutes to steady the men without apparent success. Fouls were unconsciously committed and in the heat of the play went unnoticed. Duluth scored illegally after one of the players carried the ball out of bounds, out of sight of the referee, and passed out to a man under the twine. But this was offset a few seconds later when a Brainerd man repeated the same without being called.

The closeness and excitement of the battle prevented good basketball. Had either team steadied during that glamorous fourth quarter, the margin of victory would have been wider.

The game was the fourth straight win for Brainerd high school and gave the fans a new exhilaration in their team.

Scoring was well divided for Brainerd with Foster leading with three field goals and one free throw. Patterson, Marshall, Franks, White and McPherson each score one field goal while Marshall gained an extra point on a free throw.

Stephenson was easily the outstanding Duluth player. He sunk five field goals and one free throw. His wizardry at the hoop is to be complimented.

Soon after the game opened Piering fouled Marshall who missed one free throw chance and scored one. Blackmore fouled Foster who missed. Marshall sunk one from near center for Brainerd's first field goal. Gleason went in at center for Jones. Franks scored on a pass from Marshall re-scoring sensationally from near the sidelines near the close of the quarter. Even as Duluth guard, Blackmore scored sensationally from near the sidelines near the close of the quarter. The quarter found Brainerd 5 to 2 in the lead.

Foster missed two free throws at the start of the second quarter after Toivenen body blocked. Stephenson dribbled through nicely and scored. He shot another one, a long one, and made it. Gleason hung up another field goal for Duluth and at this point Brainerd took time out to collect themselves. Coach Dammann sent in White for Franks and McPherson for Schuety. At the resuming of play, Foster scored on a pass from Patterson. Swayne substituted Even for Toivenen and Jones for Blackmore. McPherson's back-handed shot under the net found its place in the hemp on a pass from Foster and Stephenson's close-in marker ended the scoring at the half, Duluth leading 10 to 9. Brainerd started the second half with revived strength. A barrage at the Duluth hoop gave the Warriors two field goals, White and Foster each sinking one. White blocked Stephenson and the latter missed one free throw and scored the other. Brainerd peppered the Duluth net, four tries failing. The third quarter ended 13 to 11 in Brainerd's favor.

Substitutions of Blackmore for Gleason and Wylie for Foster were made at the start of the final stanza. Stephenson dropped in a long shot from outside the defense zone. The game became rough. Foster was sent in again, replacing Wylie. Brainerd took time out and immediately afterwards Foster shot in a basket on a pass from Patterson. Stephenson fouled Foster who scored a free throw. Fremuth was sent in at center for Jones to gain the jump and overcome the 16 to 13 lead Brainerd held. The big Duluth center, although four inches taller than Patterson, could not gain the jump. Stephenson scored for Duluth and Duluth took time out. Fremuth was called for roughness but White missed the free throw chance. Stephenson scored for Duluth, putting them in the lead. The scoring ace was called for his critical attitude to the referee. Marshall missed the free throw chance. With a minute and a half to play, Duluth took time out. On the reopening of play, Patterson found the hoop from under the basket and gave Brainerd the lead, 18 to 17. There were no other scores in the game. Fremuth missing the free throw chance at the close.

MAY LEAD IN BASKETBALL AS IN FOOTBALL

WILDCATS HOPE TO DUPLICATE THE DUAL FEAT OF PURDUE LAST SEASON

CONFERENCE RACE OPENS TONIGHT, WISCONSIN PLAY-ING ILLINOIS

By DIXON STEWART
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Jan. 5.—Northwestern University, leader in the 1930 football race, again occupies the favorite role as the opening of the basketball campaign brings a return of Big Ten conference athletic warfare.

Northwestern closed its conference football campaign with a clean slate to share championship honors with Michigan and now hopes to duplicate the feat of Purdue which last season won both the football and basketball titles.

The conference race opens tonight with Wisconsin's visit to Illinois. Purdue, defending champion, and Michigan will get their first taste of competition tomorrow and on Saturday all of the Big Ten conference quintets will swing into action.

Although forecasting basketball championships is a hazardous pastime and the Big Ten race is traditionally uncertain, there has been a general rush to install Northwestern in the favorite's seat. While rival schools are depending largely upon green material, Northwestern has a team composed of four veterans and the sophomore star, Joe Reiff. A schedule advantage which does not require them to meet Purdue, Indiana or Wisconsin, gives the Evanston school an added pull over the field.

Purdue has lost three of the veterans which enabled it to go undefeated in the 1930 conference race, but Coach Frank Lambert has developed a powerful club and will be a factor in the race. The Boilermakers lost one practice game to Pittsburgh while Northwestern was one of the quintet of Big Ten teams which were undefeated in five pre-conference engagements.

Wisconsin and Illinois, tonight's lid-tilters, are unknown quantities. Wisconsin's material is reputed below par, but Dr. Walter Meanwell's coaching wizardry assures the Badgers of respect throughout the race. Illinois is regarded as the most likely dark horse of the campaign. The Illini have shown strength both at defense and offense and may be title contenders if Coach Ruby can keep them keyed for victory.

Indiana, situated in the stronghold of high school basketball, always has good material and the Hoosiers are certain to be an important contender for championship honors.

Michigan has titular aspirations but bases its hopes largely on sophomore material and cannot be rated until the new men received a test against Big Ten competition. Ohio State's team, built around Wes Fessler, should be an improvement over last year's quintet but has little prospects of regaining the heights once occupied by Buckeye team.

Minnesota and Chicago boast their best material of the past decade and have high hopes of gaining prominence, but like Iowa's hapless quintet, appear destined for second division berths.

Professor Sees Hole In Einstein Religion

Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke, of Princeton University, in the January number of the official organ of the Presbyterian Church, says that Professor Albert Einstein's "cosmic religious sense" seems to have a "big hole right in the centre of it." Commenting on Einstein's statement that "the only deeply religious people of our age are the earnest men of research," Dr. Van Dyke says, "this is certainly an overstatement."

First View of Airplane

Hollis, N. H., Jan. 5.—(UP)—This town had to wait until the waning days of 1930 to get its first close-up glimpse of a flying machine. Many residents inspected an airplane for the first time recently when Joseph Fluet, aviator, made a forced landing in Arthur Strong's cow pasture. It was the first time in town history that an airplane had landed here.

San Francisco, Jan. 5.—(UP)—When the Western Metals Congress meets here February 16-20, San Franciscans may learn how much a feather really weighs. A feature of the conference will be the exhibiting of a pair of scales that will weigh to one-twenty-eighth of one-ten-thousandth of an ounce.

RANGE CAGE TEAM MAINTAINS LEAD THROUGHOUT GAME WITH DULUTH

A second Duluth high school team, Denfeld, met defeat at the hands of a Crow Wing county cage quintet on Saturday evening when Crosby-Ironton romped off their own floor on the long end of a 15 to 13 count.

Crosby-Ironton held a lead throughout the four quarters. Petrabor, C-I forward, led in scoring with three field goals and one free throw to his credit. Perich, center, was next with six points.

The range quintet had on the floor four lettermen from last year, Keele, Petrabor, forwards; Perich, center; and R. Olson, guard. Boverich, guard, was the only new man in a varsity uniform.

BOARD GETS STATE REPORT TOMORROW

Commissioners to Hear Criticisms in Examiners Report at Annual Meeting

Among other matters of business which the Crow Wing county Board of Commissioners will consider and act upon at its annual meeting tomorrow will be the receipt of a report by state public examiners criticizing road and bridge expenditures and methods in the county.

The board will also name officers for the new year and approve bonds of county officers.

Dear Mr. Schmitt:

I've heard a little about the organization in back of Scouting, but don't quite understand how these men of the Council are selected. Can members of certain clubs only be on the Council? Or is it open to all?

Sometimes a certain club in a town decides to sponsor a Boy Scout Troop. When other troops are organized this same club claims the responsibility of sponsoring Scouting for the whole city and others outside the club feel as though they are not welcome. This is the wrong way to start Scouting.

The right way to go about it is this: A club thinks and knows that Scouting is a good investment for the community's boys. Other clubs are invited to have representatives at an organization meeting. To this meeting all men and women interested in the program are invited. A representative from each church, each club, each fraternity is invited to attend.

A field representative of the Boy Scouts of America (Home office at New York) is present to explain the technical details of scouting, the local groups get started and helps methods of organization, etc. He helps them in many ways. The field representative will help conduct regular monthly meetings of this group.

The representatives from all the clubs elect the officers necessary to complete the details of the organizing.

In this manner Scouting becomes a community project and not a one club hobby. It is the only way in which Scouting can be a real success. The Boy Scouts of America is the only organization for boys which is chartered by the United States Congress to carry on a program for boys. Each year a report is sent to congress to show the work done. Every president since its incorporation has recommended Scouting as the logical program for all boys.

OH THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

Copyright 1931, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Should a married woman without children, whose husband gets a fair salary, keep her job at the expense of a girl who needs work to live?

The question from a girl in Seattle is an important one just now, and I'd say a woman with a husband to take care of her should make room for the girl who has no income but her own, and who has, perhaps, some very old or very young members of her family to support.

"I should think," says Miss Seattle, "that a woman who is married and has a husband to support her, would feel pretty cheap holding a position that means life to some girl. And I can't understand why there isn't some law to prevent women who have abounded men to take care of them, from holding positions men would like to have. Why don't such women stay at home where they belong? Then there wouldn't be so many idle men. I think you have entirely overlooked this question and I'd like to know your reaction to it."

"M."

You are right. Especially in times like these, women who work only for the luxuries of life, should lean on their husbands, and let the men and unmarried women who have to work to eat have the positions. But I can't make any laws you know, and if women are not willing to give up good positions, I can't see how you can force them to do so.

I have always thought that women with working husbands, who make enough to support them, were better off at home, but try and make them believe that! Especially if they have a good income from the work they do. They buy servants and fine clothes that their husbands' salaries wouldn't permit, and they are used to having their own money. Letting them work is like prohibition, after a while you may not like it, but it takes time to undo the damage.

I have an idea that eventually women will be back in their homes where they belong. They will do the hundred and one little things that make men and children happy, and be, therefore a thousand times happier themselves. The nerve wracking competition in business is too much for women.

Some women have written that it is absurd for me to try to put women back into the kitchen. Buying ready baked stuff is much cheaper.

I'm not trying to put them there. If the income is sufficient I think they shouldn't be there. They are keeping servant girls from good jobs. If it isn't, then they certainly do belong where the family needs require them to be.

It's true that you can buy baked stuff cheaply. It is a good thing you can. When a woman has children to care for and can't afford a cook, she is in rare good luck to be able to buy baked stuff cheaply. But would any housewife say that she prefers that kind of stuff to something made at home? Then it's because she has been brought up on it and doesn't know the difference.

I'd rather eat bought food, ready cooked, than eat something cooked by a woman who hates a kitchen. Wouldn't you?

PACKERS CONSENT DECREE OF 1920 IS ORDERED MODIFIED

Washington, Jan. 5.—(UP)—The packers consent decree of 1920 was modified today by Justice Jennings Bailey in District of Columbia supreme court so as to permit packers to deal in all classes of food in wholesale trade but prohibits the retail sale of food.

The decision, regarded by packers as a victory, removes restrictions of the 1920 decree which limited the packers from selling any commodities other than meat at wholesale.

The decree denied the packers the right to enter the retail meat business, as well as other forms of retail trade, and it also refused them the right to own stock in stockyards.

Representatives of the packers seemed pleased with the decision.

The court failed to find any evidence of violation of the Sherman anti-trust law on the part of the packers or any proof that they are now doing business in violations of the original decree.

BOARD GETS STATE REPORT TOMORROW

Commissioners to Hear Criticisms in Examiners Report at Annual Meeting

Among other matters of business which the Crow Wing county Board of Commissioners will consider and act upon at its annual meeting tomorrow will be the receipt of a report by state public examiners criticizing road and bridge expenditures and methods in the county.

The board will also name officers for the new year and approve bonds of county officers.

Dear Mr. Schmitt:

I've heard a little about the organization in back of Scouting, but don't quite understand how these men on the Council are selected. Can members of certain clubs only be on the Council? Or is it open to all?

Sometimes a certain club in a town decides to sponsor a Boy Scout Troop. When other troops are organized this same club claims the responsibility of sponsoring Scouting for the whole city and others outside the club feel as though they are not welcome. This is the wrong way to start Scouting.

The right way to go about it is this: A club thinks and knows that Scouting is a good investment for the community's boys. Other clubs are invited to have representatives at an organization meeting. To this meeting all men and women interested in the program are invited. A representation from each church, each club, each fraternity is invited to attend.

A field representative of the Boy Scouts of America (Home office at New York) is present to explain the technical details of scouting; the local groups get started and help methods of organization, etc. He helps them in many ways. The field representative will help conduct regular monthly meetings of this group.

The representatives from all the clubs elect the officers necessary to complete the details of the organizing.

In this manner Scouting becomes a community project and not a one club hobby. It is the only way in which Scouting can be a real success. The Boy Scouts of America is the only organization for boys which is chartered by the United States Congress to carry on a program for boys. Each year a report is sent to congress to show the work done. Every president since its incorporation has recommended Scouting as the logical program for all boys.

Beaver bandits who killed and made away with 17 beavers from the North American Beaver Ranch near Pillager last week caused a loss of between $3,000 and $4,000 according to an estimate today.

A number of the beaver were fat black and had been produced by years of careful study and experimentation. Many of the animals were also under observation of the U. S. Biological department who are interested in the propagation of the beaver.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

GIRL UNAFRAID

BY GLADYS JOHNSON

WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE

Ardeth Carroll has charge of the specialty shop owned by wealthy Jeanette Parker. She meets Ken Gleason, fiancé of Jeanette's sister, Cecile, and they fall in love. Their marriage is prevented by Ken's mother's wish that he marry Cecile. When Ken fails to keep an appointment with Ardeth, Tom Corbett takes her to dinner. They meet Ken and Cecile.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIX.

ARDETH was standing on the pavement before the entrance of the hotel when Ken's car pulled up.

Her heart leaped painfully as their eyes met. No bright and laughing charm about Ken today. His face was pale. His mouth grim.

He opened the door of the car and she got in without a word.

Sunday calm over the city. Church bells ringing near and far. Children, self-conscious in their best clothes, walking through the sunshine to Sunday school. Stacks of the morning papers in corner stores. An air of leisurely well-being over the city. Bleakness only in her heart.

"Well," Ken said finally in a tight voice, "through with me, aren't you?"

She moved her hands slightly but did not answer.

He gave a mirthless laugh. "Don't blame you. It's the only way out, I guess. Here's what happened, whether you want to hear it or not. Late yesterday Dr. Knowles got in touch with me. He's an old friend, and he told me that mother—"

"my mother's in a bad way, Ardeth. She's going. Just a matter of time."

He suddenly stopped.

Ardeth found that her cold hand had gone to cover his own on the wheel. He did not seem to feel it and after a moment she took it back.

Mother Love.

"I can't believe it!" Sharp protest in that which almost rose to panic. For a moment she sat silent, then resumed, more quietly, "well, it's what comes to us all, I guess. But to watch it—day by day! No hope—the doctor said. Oh, of course she doesn't know. She thinks it's something else."

She thinks it's something else. But that time I told you about when she just about starved herself and lived in that cold, no-dy room—that started it, Ardeth. And when I remember she did it for me—so I could live in comfort—like a fool—God, I feel as though I had murdered her!"

"No! No, Ken! You couldn't help it! How could you know?"

She was watching him with eyes gone wet. Ken stared straight ahead. His profile had sharpened with suffering, his eyes were flinched.

An interval when only the hum of the tires on the asphalt broke the silence.

Ken's news had swept away Ardeth's resentment. She did not wonder how Ken had come to be at Tait's last night, dancing after receiving such shocking knowledge. Tait's and dancing—Cecile and the heartbreak of last night were very far away and trivial in this moment.

Newsboys calling through the sunshine. Salt wind tingling the blood. Everything speaking of life and motion, this bright Autumn morning. How could there be any death?

With the inability of youth to grasp the actuality she was moved—horror-struck—yet not entirely comprehending. Even the man spoke as one who felt the spell of sorrow yet missed its dark meaning.

"You know—I can't realize it."

Ardeth. Oh—I know we all die—but still—my mother. I actually know—"

He drew a deep breath. "She's always been a little thing—but the spirit of a soldier. I used—I used to call her Spider Kelly—to tease her. Such a dainty, imperious little thing, you know, it sounded funny. And I'd swoop on her—times when I came home, and grab her under one arm and pack her around like that and the kids I've me in that gentle dignified way and pretending she didn't like it—while I laughed."

He suddenly stopped speaking.

After a long moment. "Well, when I went home—after seeing Dr. Knowles, she springs on me that it's Cecile's birthday."

"You know, Ardeth," Ken's voice was badgered, "mother's completely sold on Cecile. All my life—oh, well, I've told you that. Well—she was working the kids I've gone to Cecile's birthday party. It used to be ice cream fights, you and yet I couldn't let her guess—I was pretty nearly crazy—"

Crushed Hopes.

Ken's words—sending a poison of despair stealing through her. Not wild and rebellious despair which held bracing anger. This was a cold hand crushing down in her heart. Crushing hope.

She was face to face with the thing she feared. Here was the reason for that uncertainty which had lurked beneath her happiness. Fate had cornered her—and she could not fight back.

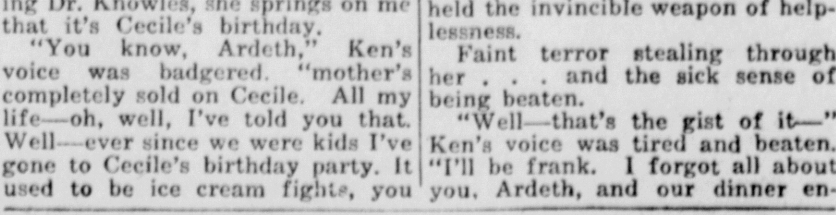

Her youth and beauty—they were weapons to wield against Cecile. But that threatening future had changed its appearance. No longer Cecile's beautiful, cynical face which opposed her. Cecile was a secondary menace now.

That unfriendly future had taken on the aspect of a frail old woman. A feeble woman who held the invincible weapon of helplessness.

Faint terror stealing through her. . . . and the sick sense of being beaten.

"Well—that's the gist of it—"

Ken's voice was tired and weary. "I'll be frank. I forgot all about you. Ardeth, and our dinner en-know, when we were youngsters. And since she's grown up, dinners and dances. You know, those things start and pretty soon they're more than a habit. They—well, they sort of weave into a fellow's life as a thing he has to do. And she—and mother—took it for granted I'd come this year—as always. And I'd forgotten every last thing about it."

Ken had been driving the car up the steep streets which led to the crest of Telegraph Hill. Now he swung out into the broad, automobile drive and came to a stop by the parapet. The cliff fell away before them. Far below the waterfront spread like a fan, white fingers of wharves outstretched into a bay like indigo. Miniature ferry boats plowed their way in a churn of foam to the Alameda and the Marin shores stretched opposite under the rich wash of Autumn sunshine.

Ken fastened sombre eyes on them as he spoke. "I'd clear forgotten anything about Cecile's party until I got home last night and found mother all in a twitter because I was late. Lord, it knocked me flat—" He moved restlessly in the seat. "To go anywhere after hearing from Doc gagement. I was like something crazy. Took all my wits to keep up in front of mother. Mustn't let her suspect. . . . I had to go out to Cecile's dinner, of course, or she'd have begun to ask questions. When I met the others I sort of got a grip on myself. I remembered you. I got to a telephone. But you'd already left. And then I saw you out there with Tom."

"Oh, Ken—Ken"—she was groping for him, blind with regret and despair.

He patted her arm, but his eyes were absent and there was a grim set to his mouth.

"Ken"—her voice trembled. "I can't say how sorry I am. I didn't guess. I'm a jealous cat, I suppose. . . . And while I was waiting Tom passed. He asked me to go. I was nearly crazy—when you wait alone every minute is a year, you know—"

He interrupted her halting voice. "I don't blame you, Ardeth. It's just sort of got me, seeing you look up at Tom like that. But I shouldn't talk—I have no right—"

"Don't say that!" she cried, sharply. "Oh, dearest—there's only you!" Heedless of passing cars, she flung her arms about him.

DEATH SENTENCES OF THREE UPHELD

Denver, Colo., Jan. 5.—(UP)—Upholding death sentences of John Walker, Claude Ray and Andrew Halliday, the Colorado supreme court today ordered them hanged at the state penitentiary at Canon City during the week ending Jan. 31, 1931.

The bandit trio was tried and convicted of the murder of Under Sheriff Coral A. Hickman of Eads, Colo., in a gun battle during their flight throughout southeastern Colorado after they had robbed the State Bank of Mantel, Kansas, of $4,000 on March 14, 1930.

VALIDITY OF THE 18TH AMENDMENT IS SUSTAINED

New York, Jan. 5.—(UP)—Validity of the 18th amendment was sustained by the United States circuit court of appeals today in a case that is virtually identical with the one under which Federal Judge William Clark of Newark declared prohibition invalid.

The conviction of Louis Thibault, who was sentenced to the Ohio federal reformatory for selling two pints of whisky was affirmed in a decision rendered by Judge Manton. Judges Hand and Chase concurred.

Food Costs Fixed at $9.25

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 5.—(UP)—The average Omaha family of five, including father, mother, boy 13, girl 7, and child of 3, can eat on $9.25 a week, but they won't, according to an estimate drawn by the Omaha Welfare Association. The food obtainable at this price is not the cheapest but it is the minimum necessary to properly nourish the five.
